ANNUAL PUBLICATION
JOHN MARSHALL HIGH SCHOOL
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

VOLUME XXIII

EDITED AND APPROVED BY THE SENIOR CLASS OF NINETEEN HUNDRED AND THIRTY THREE

Miss Helen Cabell Phillips

TO MISS HELEN CABELL PHILLIPS, the Class of '33 dedicates this volume of the Marshallite in sincere appreciation of her eager interest in our work and play, and in grateful remembrance of her enthusiastic, coöperative spirit as Sponsor, Teacher, and Friend

FOREWORD

THE progress of our nation began with the efforts of our pioneers, who laid the foundation for a country of greater magnitude than any of which they had dreamed. We have placed on our division pages scenes from the lives of these pioneers, have sketched some of our most famous first Americans, and have included a short description of what each accomplished. We have chosen this for our theme because the lives of these men show that our country has been built up by its spirit of willingness to work and tackle seemingly insurmountable problems. These men have ever been an inspiration to all who have followed.

Our School at Work

"YOU'D like to see John Marshall? Fine! Come right in! Here on the right of the lobby is the tablet to our sixteen heroes who died in the World War.

In the hall are our trophy cases. You can see they are filled with cups won in athletic competitions and for scholastic attainments.

Let's slip into the auditorium and see what's going on. Today being Monday, you'll witness the senior assembly. Our assemblies are always begun by devotional exercises, after which we are frequently addressed by noted speakers, sometimes with reference to our vocations, sometimes on subjects fitting to the occasion.

Now let's take a peep into the office. Here you will find our administrative officers: Mr. James C. Harwood, principal; Mr. J. Taylor Robinson, assistant principal; Miss Nellie Henson and Miss Constance King, secretaries.

On the second floor is our library. It is a spacious one in which the students are able to find ample material for reading and a place for reference work and study.

John Marshall offers a wide range of courses and subjects to the student. This is a typewriting class. You can imagine yourself in the office of some big business concern. Associated with this are shorthand and bookkeeping.

And here is a cooking class. Tempting odors fill the halls when these students begin their lessons. The girls are also taught sewing here at school.

Smell that suffocating odor? Well, don't be alarmed—it's nothing but a chemistry class trying its hand at mixing gases. Next year they'll be taking physics and some more youngsters will be trying the game.

This English class is really a newspaper office—it makes up our "Monocle." It is indeed a class worth visiting.

And this is the machine shop, where the boys get instruction in all sorts of construction and electrical work.

Hear that bell? That was for recess. We'll go around to the cafeteria. Our menus are carefully prepared and boast a wide variety. Perhaps you'd like to have your lunch with us today?

This afternoon we shall visit the departments of Latin, modern languages, history, mathematics, and art. We shall finish the day by visiting one of the public speaking classes. They have a play on schedule for the last period this afternoon."

Senior Class History

AS I TRY to record the happenings of the last four years, I feel the acute need of a magic crystal, or, more appropriately, a slow motion cinema. We leaped from one event to another so rapidly that it is hard to bring separate incidents out of a fading past and tell them one by one. There are certain moments, though, that impress themselves so indelibly on our memories that a retrospective glance reveals them in bold letters.

It is seldom that we approve our past acts, but our choice of Miss Helen C. Phillips as sponsor is evidence of remarkable wisdom on the part of freshmen. Her fine comradeship and guidance have been a pleasant and helpful influence on all of us. Many perplexing difficulties have been successfully overcome under her faithful and able leadership.

There is little to remember about our freshman year. Our happiest memories are of becoming acquainted with so many delightful new people and the bewilderment of attending a "big" school. Imagine the confusion of several hundred Alices in Wonderland. And just picture the proud and martial air of the "rookies" the first day they wore their new uniforms. But from this chaos there came the Class of '33. Officers were elected, the class was organized, and became active. Francis Tyndall became our president; Mike West, vice-president; Marion George, secretary; Billy Williams, treasurer; and Nancy Griffin, reporter. Maroon and gold were selected for the class colors. A successful picnic to Bryan Park gave us a flying start. To make the picnic complete, two of our members fell into the lake. Another outing to Bryan Park in the spring brought our freshman year to a joyful close.

We returned as sophomores. It was such a relief from the humility of being freshmen and being humbled, that many of us undoubtedly lived up to our name and were—I hate to say this—wise fools. My first recollection of the Sophomore Class is the election of officers. Eddie Purdue was elected president; Pattie Moone Lewis, Myrtis Elliott, Fred Bayliss, Bill Sullivan, and Catherine Soyars filling the remaining offices. Our second year was shortened by a number of social activities. First, there was the Sophomore-Junior Entertainment in the auditorium. Remarkable talent in every phase was made evident by the songs, dances, and performances of the "sophs." Then to the strains of waltzes and fox trots sophomores and juniors danced together at the first autumn dance. The entertainment given by the sophomores to their parents at the Y. W. C. A. was most successful. John Stratton revealed his originality as master of ceremonies and various members of the class their talent by other performances. Another dance and a picnic were both enjoyed immensely. We ended our sophomore year gloriously with the picnic given by our president at Bryan Park.

It was pleasant our junior year. We felt important enough to take a big part in school activities, but we weren't haunted with the regrets of leaving in June. We knew that we still had another wonderful year before us. Bill Sullivan whole-heartedly took over the reins of the class this year and led us on to new triumphs, assisted by Rose Hening, our charming vice-president. These two were ably assisted by Anne Peple, George Skipwith, Rebecca Goldberg, and Margery Moore. The Thanksgiving dance was probably the distinctive function of the year. Maroon and gold colors streaming from everywhere formed an appropriate background for the corn shocks and pumpkins which adorned every corner. The dance wasn't all, though. Who will ever forget the hot dogs, marshmallows, and the treasure hunt of the picnic! Time for the Junior Play rolled around before we knew it. It was a wonderful play, and everyone enjoyed it immensely. Remember how embarrassed Martha Ellis was when the curtains wouldn't come together and Bill Sullivan really had to kiss her? The dance after the play capped the climax of enjoyment for those happy juniors. This closed our junior year, but we all looked forward to returning for our last year at dear old John Marshall.

Seniors! Our little toy soldiers have become not rusted and covered with dust, but extremely vigorous. They hurry here and there, their sabres clanking, their faces red and sweating with rage—rage at our beautiful little toy soldiers who remind us so much of those "rookies" of four years ago. They make a beautiful picture with their sashes waving in the breeze and their sabres flashing in the sun. But there are other picturesque personages: Nonchalant seniors talking in the halls and on the stairs to charming ladies (not all seniors), the ladies smilingly listening to the clever words of the gallant gentlemen.

Still under the guiding hand of Miss Phillips we elected senior officers. Who could be more fitting for president of such a class than Duncan Hawley? Smiling Myrtis Elliott was elected vice-president. Amelia Garber was chosen secretary and Eddie Odell treasurer, Martha Ellis our reporter, and John Wingfield, historian. The seniors opened their program with a big dance. Another dance and a picnic followed in short order. The football game at Bryan Park was lots of fun, and the "eats" were delicious. The Senior Christmas play, "Mr. Richey Changes His Mind," was a huge success.

Several other dances, among them the Junior-Senior Dance and the Sophomore-Senior Dance, were given. In May, according to the long-established custom, seniors held the Senior Picnic to Beck's Beach, where they played games, swam, danced, and, above all, ate to their hearts' content.

We brought to a close our high school days by Senior Class Night when the seniors presented a play which was followed by a dance given by the sophomores in honor of the seniors.

Now our high school days are over. They are cherished memories which will live forever in our hearts. Some of us will go to college, others will take up various burdens of life, all of us ever seeking higher things, and ever following our motto—"Keep on keeping on."

Junior Class History

THE JUNIOR CLASS of John Marshall owes the success of a very eventful year to its sponsor, Miss Elise Stephenson. Through her work and coöperation with the class of '34, she has helped us enjoy a great deal of merriment and happiness.

The reorganization of the old Sophomore Class into the new Junior Class came within a few days after the new classes had been established. In the first meeting, the officers for the new term were nominated, and in the next meeting they were introduced. After the hustle and bustle of the beginning of the new term had died down, the first two weeks were taken up with the membership campaign and the election of officers. The elected officers were: Horace Hardaway, president; Leila Gordon, vice-president; Eleanor Hening, secretary; Arthur De Biasi, treasurer; Anita Pullen, reporter; and M. R. Cooper, historian.

The first important event in the administration of these officers was the Junior-Senior Dance, a dance which furnished a gay beginning for the school year. Later the class decided on a favorable date and location for a picnic. This took place at Bryan Park, on the Friday before Thanksgiving. Immediately after school those who could went to Bryan Park, while many more came later. The boys were put to work gathering firewood, and the girls unpacked the marshmallows, mustard, and hot dogs, while certain ones in charge were engaged in hiding the notes and the treasure, in preparation for a treasure hunt. The treasure hunt, a three-legged race, and other games followed rapidly in succession until the time for eating arrived. Everyone returned to the camp-fire where the stock of hot dogs and marshmallows was consumed.

About the first of December, before the Christmas holidays, the Junior-Sophomore Dance was given. This dance was entered into with a zeal and interest that was surprising. Consequently, it was a success, and the dancers greeted the final "Home, Sweet Home" with sighs of reluctance at the passing of such a happy evening. There were a few more meetings with entertaining programs and plays in the few weeks that remained before examinations.

To start the second semester right, the juniors and the seniors gave a dance. During the following two weeks, a drive for more members took place.

Before Easter the Junior Class presented a play and a dance in honor of the graduation of the seniors. The title of this play, a romance in Spain, was "Toreadear and the Cowvalier." This was a one-act play in three scenes. In one of the scenes there was a bull fight, the part of the bull being taken by two boys, and which, strangely enough turned out rather successfully.

With the picnic in the spring as a grand finale, we had our last outburst of eating and playing before settling down for our final examinations, from which we emerged full-fledged seniors.

Sophomore Class History

THE CLASS of '35 began its activities the first of October when a call to arms was sounded by the sponsor, who enthusiastically convinced all sophomores that the present was the time to begin working for a successful senior year, the goal of all true Marshallites.

A feeling of enthusiasm and good fellowship seemed to prevail throughout the class and at once the sophomores began to forge ahead. Good-natured rivalry as to who could secure the largest number of new members soon stretched the class roll to a length that was a matter of pride to its members.

We had so much good material at hand that it was hard for the nominating committee to select the candidates for the class offices. A week of campaigning and balloting at "Sophomore Headquarters" resulted in the election of the following: Kenneth Bass, president; Alice Fuqua, vice-president; Elsie Pitts, secretary; Shields Soyars, treasurer; Lucy Latham, reporter; and Charles August, historian.

The installation of the officers took place at the first big meeting of the year. Because of the size of our class, most of our meetings have been held in John Marshall Auditorium. The sophomores have been justly proud of these meetings, from the officers who presided to the programs which have been always peppy and delightfully entertaining.

On December 9, the sophomores had their "Coming-out Party" in the guise of a dance with the juniors in Wythe gym. Beneath the green and gold and blue and gold the happy couples swaying to the music presented a colorful and lovely picture.

Who said January is no time for a picnic in Bryan Park? The sophomores felt that it was a particularly good time for a last fling before mid-term exams. Defying all of the bad omens, we set Friday, the 13th, as our date. The weather man played us a trick by unexpectedly bringing out the coldest day of the winter, but the snow flurries only added gayety to our spirits and made our appetites more ravenous. Who cares about the weather when there is a jolly crowd, plenty of food and a roaring fire over which to cook it?

The "Reign of Terror" was now upon us. However, most of us emerged with our scalps, and our class felt that it had completed a highly successful first term with a membership roll of 235 names.

Early in February a summons to all loyal sophomores was broadcast far and wide and the new term was launched at the first business meeting.

On February 24th we had the first afternoon class dance in Wythe gym, an affair which was so enjoyable that plans were immediately made for a combined Senior-Junior-Sophomore Dance for the afternoon of March 17th. This unusual treat was a most popular innovation in the "Good Times Calendar" of the classes.

The second term's dances, picnics and meetings have made a full program for our class, culminating in the dance given to the seniors in June.

This session the sophomores have sponsored as a school project the sales and distribution of "Monocles" in Wythe. Never lacking in school spirited enthusiasm, our class have been proud of any chance to serve our beloved John Marshall.

We have completed half of our journey through high school and we are expectantly looking forward to our junior year, but the memories of the good times and activities of this year under the inspirational and untiring leadership of our sponsor, Miss Eva Tatum, will always be dear to the heart of every loyal sophomore.

Charles August,
Historian.

THE team this year consisted of practically all new men, as only two of last year's team returned. Due to the fact that the corps lost its best marksmen by graduation, more time has been spent in developing an efficient team. The schedule for this year was more extensive than that of the previous one. Real John Marshall spirit was displayed by the hard work of the team. Matches were competed through mail arrangement.

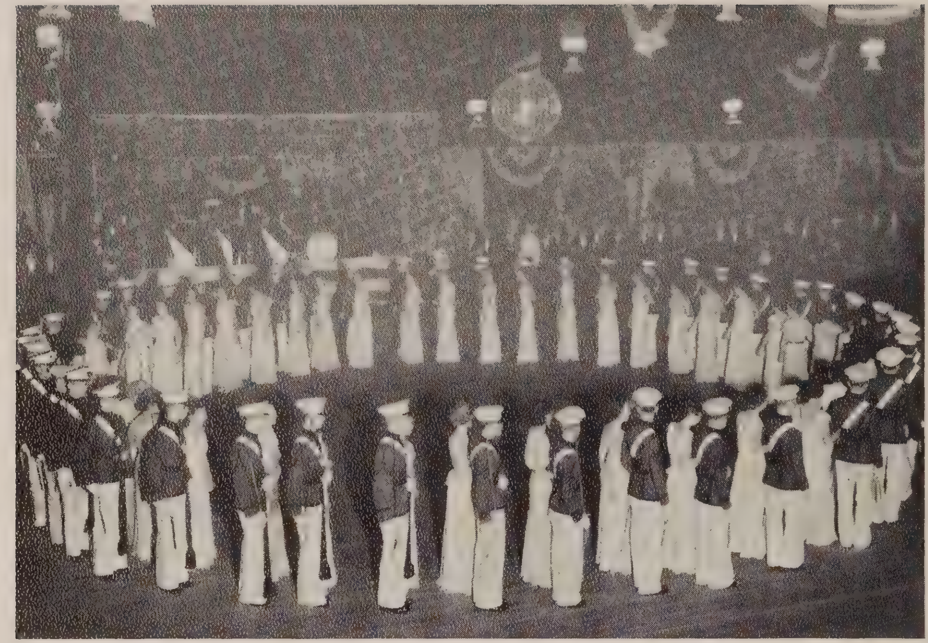
THE HONOR COURT tries all cases of discipline involving breach of honor. It is therefore a most essential body, and one whose vigilance in maintaining standards of conduct is no less important than the justice with which it imparts its decisions.

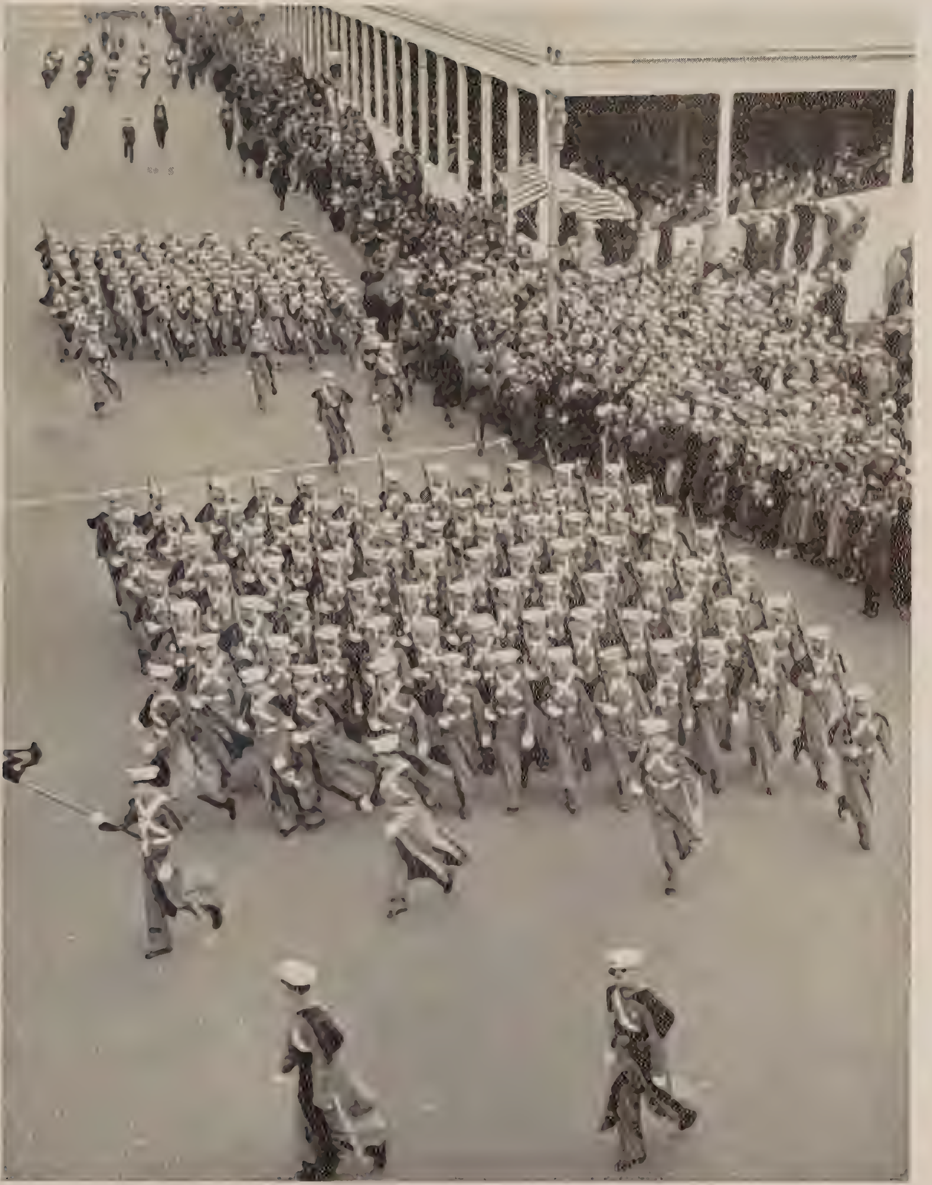


Cadet Hop

COULD anything have been more glorious than the mid-term cadet hop just before Christmas? The silent drill, the stately figure and the beautiful dancing, each thrilling in its different sphere, combined to make a night that few will forget for many years to come.

When the silent drill of the whole corps had been concluded, the figure began. The officers in impeccable full dress and the girls in shimmering white marched to the tune of "An All-American Girl." A crystal globe, suspended from the ceiling, served to transport the stately grand march from our earth to some distant fairyland as the couples met in twos and fours. Then came the figures, "33" and "J M," formed by a single line of boys and girls, and the wheel, with a snowy white rim of girls and spokes of cadets. Last, as a climax to the figure, there was the arch of sabres after which each girl received a beautiful bracelet with the seal of John Marshall on it.

When the figure was over, the less fortunate sons and daughters of John Marshall joined in the dancing, and it was with the most genuine regret that we saw Father Time decree the end of one of the gayest nights of our young lives.



"It gave me great pleasure to witness the fine appearance by the Corps of Cadets of John Marshall High School in the inaugural parade at Washington, D. C., on Saturday, March 4. Their march discipline was excellent and their bearing indicative of high morale.

(Signed) Paul B. Malone, Major General, Commanding."

THE VAN VORTS are proud of this year's work. The society was fortunate in having such willing and capable workers. As a result the Van Vorts "have done things."

We had some fine debates this year. Some were as serious as "Resolved: That the Five-Day Week Plan Should Be Adopted," and some were as foolish as "Resolved: That Boys Should Not Get Mad with Their Girls Just Before Christmas."

Work started on the state debate in February, and the Van Vorts showed what they were made of then. We put in some hard work, but it was fun.

The Van Vorts realize that none of this work could have been accomplished without the help and advice of our sponsor, Miss Mary Richeson.

Quill and Scroll

MEMBERSHIP in Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, is an honor much coveted by high school students. The society was founded by internationally known editors and leaders of press associations for the purpose of encouraging and raising the standard of writing among high school students.

The officers for this year are: Overton Jones, president; Martha Ellis, vice-president; Myrtis Elliott, secretary-treasurer; Louise Thompson, reporter; Miss Charles Anthony, faculty adviser.

In the international contests sponsored by Quill and Scroll during this session, members of the John Marshall chapter have consistently won places or received honorable mention. Several members attended the Southern Interscholastic Press Association at Lexington where this chapter sponsored the Quill and Scroll banquet, over which the president of John Marshall chapter presided.

The above picture was taken while on a visit to the Edgar Allan Poe Shrine, an annual trip for Quill and Scroll.

To make Quill and Scroll a student must be in the upper third in scholastic standing, must have attained distinction in writing or in some phase of publication work, must be of commendable character, and must meet the approval of the international secretary-treasurer.

Forum Club

THE work of the Forum Club, from September, 1932, to February, 1933, has been both interesting and varied in material. Of all of the many enlightening talks given, no two were alike in either subject matter or delivery. After each meeting the students felt that they had gleaned more knowledge. As a whole, the topics chosen were of general interest. After the speeches had been given, the subjects were informally discussed by the class.

The art of debating was carefully studied and then was put into practice. The debates caused much discussion and argument among the pupils, and the rebuttals were especially exciting. The class judged the debates and gave helpful criticism.

Another phase of the work of the Forum Club was that of occasional speeches. These speeches were instructive and enjoyable. The speakers were formally introduced by other members of the class, and these introductions were rather amusing.

An important piece of work accomplished by the Club this year was reviewing books. Books of poetry and prose, usually of contemporary authors, were delightfully reviewed by different members of the class. A great deal of interest in these new writers and their unusual styles of writing was created by these reviews.

It can be truthfully said that all of the members have received practical instruction and useful information as well as a keen enjoyment from the 1932-1933 Forum Club.

Harwood Literary Society

IN ALL Public Speaking 2 classes from February to June there is organized a society known as the "Harwood Literary Society." The sponsor of each section is the teacher of that particular group.

The purpose in having such a society is mainly to familiarize ourselves with parliamentary law, which is so essential in the present-day world. We also get practice in organizing and arranging programs of great variety, such as those for entertainment and information. While doing this, we find ourselves unconsciously learning the art of making appropriate speeches for all occasions, and at the same time acquiring the fundamentals of better speech and dramatics.

Each section has its own separate group of officers. They are elected for the full term. However, our weekly meetings, although presided over by our officers, are under the direction of a different chairman each week. In this way each student has a chance to act as chairman, and thereby obtains valuable experience in arranging and directing a program.

The meetings, which are usually held each Friday, are looked forward to with keen anticipation. We shall always remember the "Harwood Literary Society" as the one class that we really enjoyed, because it combined recreation and learning.

Senior French Society

Allons, enfants de la patrie,
Le jour de gloire est arrivé!

THE aims of the Senior French Society are educational and social. One day of each school month is devoted to French Club meetings by each individual French class. During these meetings not a word of English is spoken and there is also a program which is instructive as well as entertaining. Several times during the past year the French classes have assembled to sing French songs, among which is always "La Marseillaise," the French national anthem.

The Senior French classes did much this year to help establish the Modern Language Scholarship which is awarded each year to the graduate making the highest average at the end of a four-year course in French or Spanish. Several parties were given for this purpose.

Many of the French pupils have acquired French correspondents recently. This has proved very interesting and also educational, since it offers the students opportunities to become better acquainted with the French language and to learn the customs of the people whose language we study.

A knowledge of French is broadening and cultural, to say the least. No one who has ever studied French has regretted doing so. It is our hope that in the future the Senior French Society may continue to grow in size, to have many various and interesting activities, and to be an asset to John Marshall High School.

Junior French Society

VOUS, les éleves de Français, étudiez bien vos grammaires. Whether you "comprenez" or not, let us speak English for the benefit of those who do not understand us "Frenchmen".

Junior French Society people as we are, we sometimes become disgusted after studying 'way into the wee small hours over those irregular verbs and ever tiresome rules of grammar. Filmy and hazy as a cloud at dawn, they first come. Then they gradually become firm and burst forth upon us in a glorious light, bringing to our realization something we have not noted before. Taken all together, we get a lot of fun out of it and we feel those who "boo" French do not appreciate its real value and beauty.

To realize that one is learning such a vitally important language, one of the two spoken in the League of Nations, and perhaps the second most important language in the world today, makes one more eager to get to the bottom of it. Those club meetings must have a place! Our programs are spoken in French, of course, but the poor teachers have puzzles as hard as the new jig-saw fads when they try to get these meetings conducted in proper French. In mounting the golden steps of fame, French is most helpful. To assume a good knowledge of French was one of the big parts of Shakespeare's small education. Don't you think this sounds like a worthwhile subject? Try it and realize its value.

Well, it won't be long now before we become seniors. Then the real fun begins!

Senior Spanish Society

THE lure of delightful and picturesque "Sunny Spain," the old and the new, calls without ceasing to those of us who love and study Spanish, and leads us ever onward to realize great ambitions in the language of the dark-eyed, smiling señorita, the gallant caballero, the matador in his exciting career, the castanets as they sound merrily, the lovely land, the realm of Cervantes, that most famous of all Spanish authors who made immortal his language.

It has been the chief objective of the Senior Spanish Society to attain the highest possible realization of the knowledge of the Spanish language, its origin, its history, its literature, its nation, its people, its future as well as its past. The society holds monthly meetings when varied and quite colorful programs are presented in Spanish, from which no little benefit is derived by the students.

In the history of the Senior Spanish Society, its motto has ever been, and continues to be: "Querer es poder".

Junior Spanish Society

THAT disturbing noise going on down the hall is only the Spanish class learning to sing "Noche de Paz." It is really a relief to them after the Spanish alphabet and such difficult translations as "The Little Red Hen."

The Spanish 2 and 3 classes feel quite advanced when reading about the customs of the Spanish-speaking countries. While translating such thrilling love stories as "Temprano y Con Sol" and "La Ajorca de Oro," we forget all about the rules for the subjunctive. We are even reading poetry now! Sometimes we refresh ourselves by having a Spanish program.

Taking Spanish is not by any means all work and no play. "But why should I study Spanish?" you may ask. It is important to learn and understand the language and customs of our neighbors of the South American republics. We may need Spanish in the business world today with the increasing trade with Spanish-speaking countries, not to mention the thrill of knowing something of another language. Last, but not least, if you work hard, you may win the Modern Language Scholarship!

Science Club

UNDER the able leadership of Miss Loulie C. Kelley and Miss Mary Leach, the John Marshall Science Club has had an interesting and instructive year. We organized with the following officers: Dorothy Garrett, president; Anne Walker, vice-president; Ann LaPrade, secretary; Douglas Nunnally, treasurer; Frances Thomas, reporter; Marion Sanders, program chairman; Gwendolyn Smith, publicity chairman.

Our aim is to stimulate the interest in science outside the classroom. We have been able to accomplish this through field trips and demonstration periods by teachers in the Science Department and members of the club. Our most outstanding programs have been illustrated talks by prominent scientists. The "fun hour" is one of the most enjoyable phases of the club. The science idea is carried out by means of games and contests in which all members participate.

MISS FLEET—A sponsor for whom we are grateful. Kind and gentle, a model of dignity, she holds the love and respect of all her followers.

Jimmy Turner—Hurrah for our side, he's on it! Cheers for our cheer leader. A good adviser, charming personality, our own little red head.

Mildred Lucy—Our dancer, our president and our own little heart-breaker. When you hear baby-talk look around for Lucy.

Martha Courtney—Smiles and more smiles. "Whatta" personality. She's the life of a party and our party.

Peppy Crabbin—If you don't believe that "Precious things come in small packages," notice Peppy.

Kitty Collier—Some say she's dumb; they don't know her. Just mention anything, and she offers her house. Kitty's just our "all-round."

Bernice Blount—Some call her "Miss Sophistication," others call her "Miss Snooty," but we know—so sweet and attractive.

Lois Woodall—One of our youngest members. She is not as conspicuous as some of the others, but she'll grow—just watch her.

Virginia Bannister—Stunning, brunette, those come hither eyes—who else could it be but that cutesie Ace?

Gladys Nunnally—Sweet and aloof, modern and stylish, and an "ole reliable."

Minnie Lloyd—Quiet and reserved, not talkative, but when she does, it's worth listening to. A good audience, always.

Marjorie Williams—Sporty, original, a slayer of the Vagabonds. She's sure to make you smile. Let's call her "The Smiling Ace."

THE BACHELOR CLUB was formed in 1928 by a group of boys interested in furthering school spirit and activities. This past year we have carried on the work of other years with good results.

The year's social activities started off with a get-together at Eddie Turner's. Everybody had a good time to the tune of a piano.

Next came a " 'possum hunt" in which we actually caught some of those elusive animals.

During the Christmas holidays we danced at Duncan Hawley's.

In the spring, after we "balanced the budget," there was no end of good times.

The members of the club are well known and prominent both in and out of school. Duncan Hawley, Eddie Turner, Bill McMullin and Stuart Todd are all track men. Buck Rady and Chick Yonker are members of the cadet corps, while Nippy Phillips, Johnny Walden, George Skipwith, and Tweedie Hoen are men about town. Frank Richards helps decorate the annual. Boyd Collier and Tommy Wilkinson were two faithful members whom we were sorry to lose by graduation in February.

We are lucky, indeed, to have as our mascot 'Nita Pullen, a member of the Duckies. She is a real Bachelor and is liked by us all. Miss Benton was kind enough to be our sponsor again and we really appreciate it.

Dear Alumnae:

We're writing to you to tell you in rhyme
That we've been having the Duckiest time,
That we have worked a very great deal
To keep our club on the top, and we feel
That we've lived up to our standards, too,
Now, we'd like to report what we've done to you.
We've upheld school spirit in more than one way.
There were four Duckie cheer leaders and on display
At the games were armbands the Duckies had sold;
These and the stickers all have told
How much money we've made this session—
And making money wasn't easy in this depression.
As we look back and reminisce,
There hasn't been any fun we've missed:
There've been weiner roasts, a progressive party, a dance,
Skating parties, two house parties, then our chance
To give a shower to an old Duckie.
We've had more fun! We've certainly been lucky.
Now that you know what we've done,
How that we've had lots of fun,
Look on the next page, please, will you,
And we'll give you the Duckie Who's Who.
First comes the president, Marie.
What she's accomplished you can plainly see.
She's been just what we'd like her to—
Marie's what you'd call Duckie true.
Second comes the vice-president, Dickie, the best one we could choose.
Then, there's Jane, the treasurer. She collects the dues.
Next comes Dot, the secretary, who keeps the minutes of the meetings.
Then there's Anita, the reporter, who writes the "Monocle" greetings.
The rest are active Duckies who have done their work so well,
How much they've coöperated we could never tell.
We've tried to make this the Duckiest year that there could be.
Good-bye and lots of love, from—The Duckies of Thirty-Three.

WELL, MARSHALLITES! Again we come to the close of a most successful year, of which a series of weiner roasts, cabin parties, 'possum hunts, rummage and candy sales and dances were the main high lights. And why should it not be a successful year, with such a fine group of fellows pushing the club? As usual, the club was well represented in the different school activities. It was our privilege to head the list of students to help in the Red Cross Drive on January 28. We had a fine representation on the football squad!

Mr. Giménez, our sponsor and adviser, has proven the best; when the club needs advice, he always is able to supply it—and he is a true friend to every member.

Our mascot, Miss Peggy Wagener, has been a great help to the club this year. Peggy is that pretty little blonde in the Duckie Club, who smiles just sweet enough to melt a fellow. The club will never forget the splendid meetings held at her house, nor the way in which she has stuck by the club, to help it succeed.

Then comes Johnny Apperson ("Pretty Boy" to many), who is our vice-president. Johnny's club spirit and dependability have been an inspiration to us all. We'll miss you lots, Johnny!

Next is Fred Bayliss, our secretary. Keeping track of this bunch and seeing that every member is reminded of the next meeting is quite a job, and Fred succeeded at it!

Bill Sims, that quite innocent-looking boy with the wavy brown hair, is our treasurer. His being treasurer should show how much we all think of him.

Stuart Wright, better known as "Dukie," is our reporter. Dukie did quite a good job at giving you all the "low down" on us.

Mac Buhrman, better known as the "Truck-Driver," is the boy who lets all those football players run their heads in his stomach. He played full back this year, and is co-captain next year.

"Hinky" Page, alias "Endless Cavern," can surely eat. He is always ready to do his share, and has worked hard when the club needed him.

Jarvis Tolson, "Toastie," has had tough luck this year. The football team missed him plenty, and regretted that an injured leg should have kept him from playing.

When it comes to Eddie Talley, you can't help thinking of that song, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Indeed he is, and the Gamma Taus all know it and like him.

Bill Via is the little fat fellow on the football team, whom his opponents found so difficult to move. Bill always has a laugh for us, and keeps everyone happy at the meetings.

Rothwell Smith, that good-looking "brunette," has not been long with us, but he has the makings of a real Gamma Tau, and we are sure that he will make a good one.

Did we omit anyone? I should say so! Of course you've heard that "The last shall be the first." Last, but first in the hearts of all the Gamma Taus, our president, Albert Toon. To his great club spirit, his dependability, and his interest in the club, we owe most of our success this year. We are going to miss you, Al. Wherever you may be, the affection and good wishes of the Gamma Taus will be with you.

THE Idma year of 1932-1933 was very successful. We were represented in track by Platt Bullard, Douglas Holland, and Charlie Hecker. Platt was the outstanding 440 and 880 man in the state. He holds the state 440 record and was good enough to place second in the Chicago meet. He is now at William and Mary, and we wish him the best of luck. Doug was a good 440 man, too; and is likely to do big things this year. Charlie Hecker handled the weights in a worthy manner. In basketball, Ebel was outstanding, being honored by a position on the All-City team. In football, Charlie Hecker, Doug Holland, Bill Jackson, and "Wee" Reams were outstanding. Hecker made All-City tackle, Reams won his letter on a flank position, Doug was a substitute end, and Bill played tackle. We were represented in the cadets by Mike Bartlett, Captain of "E" Company; Tony Carrington, Senior Captain; Harry Moore, Captain of "B" Company, and captain of the 1933 baseball team; Edward Epperson, Sergeant of "D" Company, and Bob Rether, Supply Sergeant of "A" Company.

We wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Moore for his help, encouragement and thoughtful advice.

THE Monx Club enjoyed one of its most successful years during 1932 and 1933. Many house parties and social gatherings served to make this year a memorable one for all the Monx. We think that a feeling of greater school spirit and fellowship is the result of this year's work in the club. We leave with the sincere hope that the Monx in the future will carry on with these two ideas in view.

DURING the year 1932-1933, we have done everything in our power to promote school spirit. We have attended football games and other school activities. We have had different kinds of social entertainments and sincerely hope that in the future the Nu Iota Chi Club will go forward into bigger and better things.

THE SCOTTIES greet you for the first time from the pages of the Marshallite, and they are experiencing nervousness as well as anticipation.

This club is sponsored by Miss Simpson Thomas and Miss María González, who are priceless, say the Scotties. Margaret Harris occupies the president's chair, Billie Nenzel is vice-president, Frances Schaaf, that striking blonde, writes things down, curly-haired Mary Roy Baker holds the money, and Edith Walker is reporter. Cute little Kitty Applebee and Eddie Purdue, the highly-satisfactory mascot, round up the list. Bye-bye until next time.

HIGH SCHOOL boys, who are trying to establish high standards of Christian character in the high school and community, make up the Hi-Y Club. That is the purpose of the club.

Many new members were enlisted in Hi-Y work during the recent membership campaign. These boys have a vital interest in the aims of Hi-Y work. Competent officers, who loyally spend their time in establishing a higher level of Christian character, enable the club to progress rapidly. The club is fortunate in having as its advisers Mr. Walter F. Beverly and Mr. D. V. Blaney. It has prospered considerably under their leadership.

The club supports itself by stationing a booth at the Virginia State Fair every year. Money is given to support foreign boys' work and also to keep the club room in excellent condition.

Salem, 0; John Marshall, 21. The Justice team began its 1932 career with an overwhelming defeat of Salem. With a strong start, it piled up a lead of fourteen points over the visitors during the first quarter. Ridout, Ames, Miller, and Todd were the chief scorers during the first half. The three touchdowns were made by these three men, all new on the team. Walter Todd, quarter back, added the three extra points by a drop kick and a run. The team was held back considerably during play by penalties registered against it.

Woodrow Wilson, 6; John Marshall, 0. In the second game of the season Portsmouth was effective in its defeat over us. The Justice squad outplayed the Presidents during the first half but failed to score. Toon and Ames, aided by Miller's punting, made the most substantial gains. Todd is also credited with good form, outwitting the opponents in most plays. The Portsmouth team was not in unison during the first half but the last half found many holes in our own plays. Parker was the most outstanding and brilliant player of the Portsmouth team.

St. Christopher, 6; John Marshall, 0. Tradition was broken when John Marshall lost to her old rival, St. Christopher. During the first half of the rivalry it looked as if last year's scoreless tie were to be repeated. However, the Saints gained strength during the third period and came through with a touchdown. Burhman and Todd were the most consistent ground gainers for the Justice squad. Next year we hope the old tradition may be revived again.

Glass High, 0; John Marshall, 0. Though John Marshall outplayed Lynchburg, fumbles on our part were responsible for the lack of scoring points. During the second and final periods, the Justice team took the ball from mid-field to the six yard stripe, only to lose on a fumble. Mac Burhman, full back, backed the line well while Toon missed a touchdown by a foot in the final period. Glass kicked out of danger as the final whistle blew.

Roanoke, 7; John Marshall, 13. In a spectacular game featured by long passes and runs, Jefferson of Roanoke bowed to the Justice squad. Al Toon, star half back, made both Justice tallies, while Eddie Gill scored the extra point with a kick from placement. With a series of runs and passes Roanoke scored a touchdown in the first four minutes of play. Taking the ball from their own thirty-five yard line, they made the extra point. In the same way we made seven points. Thus the half ended in a tie. At the beginning of the third period Gill received an ankle injury and was removed. A pass from Burhman to Todd brought the Justice team to Jefferson's eight yard stripe. Toon carried the pigskin over after three plunges. The attempt for the extra point failed. Thereafter the Magicians were held for four downs on our one yard line until Miller kicked out of danger.

Benedictine, 0; John Marshall, 12. From the opening play the Justice eleven showed excellent form. Toon punted to Kelly on Benedictine's three yard line with a fumble resulting. Odell recovered the ball, Burhman's line plunge took it to the one foot stripe, and Toon carried it over. Benedictine reached our five yard line, fumbled, and Edmunds, right half back, carried the ball to the middle of the field. Miller, playing left halfback, received the ball on a reverse, allowing him to run seventy-five yards for a touchdown.

Maury, 6; John Marshall, 0. We suffered defeat by Maury again this season, though it was not so overwhelming as last season. Thomas of Maury scored the touchdown on the second play. We got the ball twice to the twenty yard line but failed to score. Miller made a forty-five yard run and also made scoring attempts possible by his long runs. Farley, guard, also excelled in blocking kicks.

Petersburg, 33; John Marshall, 0. Despite a rain-soaked field, Petersburg ran up a very high score against our eleven. For the second time in ten years Petersburg has triumphed. We had eight years straight victory. Next year we hope to take up the chain where it was broken.

Newport News, 12; John Marshall, 0. At the beginning of the first quarter there was a punting duel, but later John Marshall took the ball to the fifteen yard line. However, no score was made. The two touchdowns of Newport News were made in the first and third periods by Adams and Ward, respectively.

Thomas Jefferson, 6; John Marshall, 13. The play in the first half was entirely one-sided. Thomas Jefferson completely out-shone the Justices, and it looked for a while that the game would be a scoreless one for John Marshall. The Jeffersonians scored their touchdown during the first half and failed to make the extra point. When the whistle blew for the end of the half, the score was 6 to 0 in favor of the Jeffs. John Marshall got together in the second part of the play, and showing plenty of vim and the old fighting spirit, staged a remarkable comeback. Not only did the Justices hold the Jeffs scoreless during this period, but they scored two touchdowns and an extra point. "Chick" Miller scored the first one of these for John Marshall. Later "Mac" Burhman chalked up a second touchdown. Gill passed to Ridout, and the extra point was successfully made. The rivalry between the two city teams is very tense and each looks forward to vanquishing the other next year.

Although John Marshall did not have as highly successful a year in football as has been its good fortune at other times, yet the spirit shown by the players as well as by the cheering and interested spectators is an excellent example of their good sportsmanship and it is our wish that this side of our athletics be stressed along with the desire to win.

PERFECT teamwork and a faculty for aggressiveness were the chief factors in the success of the 1933 basketball team. The team showed its superiority by its complete mastery of the inter-city opponents. Our team won from Thomas Jefferson by scores of 34 to 9 and 28 to 14. Benedictine was defeated by equally impressive scores of 36 to 17 and 42 to 25. St. Christopher likewise fell victim by 39 to 9 and 46 to 25 scores.

With less than half of the scheduled games played, Eddie Gill and Vincent Taylor were declared ineligible. While this, of course, was a blow to the team, they were not discouraged, and these stout-hearted lads went to work with a determination which was evidenced by the splendid showing made at all games.

Under the capable leadership of Captain Robert, "Pie" Ridout, assisted by Coach Snead and Manager Hamilton Saunders, a fine schedule was arranged and successfully carried out. Of the twenty games played, John Marshall won fifteen and lost five.

Captain Bob Ridout, an all-city selection, proved himself a capable leader. His floorwork and accurate passing made possible many of the Justices' victories. Tommy Wiley, also an all-city selection, was conspicuous by his elusive and deceptive style of playing. Wiley also led the Justice scoring with 160 points to his credit. Fritz Ebel, "Six Feet Five," also an all-city selection, gave John Marshall possession of the ball from tip-offs throughout the game. His close guarding of opponents prevented many tallies against the Justices' record. Billy Williams, though not nearly so tall as his team-mates, made up for this by his aggressiveness and sure-footed maneuvers. Morris Green, who started the season as center but was later shifted to guard, handled himself in a highly creditable manner, playing both positions with equal ability. Dan Albright, William Bailey, Cabell Parker, and Henry Schrieberg, substitutes, when called upon, carried out their assignments like veterans. These boys, along with Coach Snead and Manager "Ham" Saunders, made practice a pleasure, and the entire season a constant joy to each of them.

The boys worked hard and faithfully to develop a winning combination and, with the splendid training and help imparted by Coach "Hobbie" Snead, they won great honor for themselves and John Marshall. The warm companionship of "Coach," as he was affectionately called by his colleagues, will forever remain fresh in the memory of those who came under his leadership.

While the school has always been justly proud of the records of its athletic teams, it may not be out of place to mention here that in basketball John Marshall has always turned out consistently excellent squads.

From back in the far off days of "Pat" Carroll, "Bill" Wharton, "Punk" Pendleton, Claude Woodward, Frank Marrin, on up through the days of Billy King, "Phess" Woodson, Lud Sherman and many other stars, the Justices have blazed a path of consistent and victorious play.

Just to enumerate a few statistics, it is noted that in the past four years, 1929, 1930, 1931, and 1932, the John Marshall teams have played eighty-six games and won sixty-nine of them. As some of these contests were against college freshman teams this is a record of which to be proud.

In 1930 the Justices won not only eighteen out of twenty-two games, but also brought home the coveted South Atlantic title, after competing with the best high schools in that geographical section.

JOHN MARSHALL, in spite of many bad breaks, had a fairly good baseball season in 1932, considering that its last year's stars had graduated, leaving raw material to be molded. The aforementioned contrary luck, however, prevented our continuation of our much-envied record of former seasons. Several of our outstanding players were Captain Billy Pitts, star short stop, and Eddie Gill, third baseman, who caused many scores to be tight because of their splendid defensive playing. Then came Harry Moore, captain of the 1933 team, our ace pitcher, "Turkey" Thurston, distinguished by his fielding and hitting, and last but certainly not least, "Zeke" Stansbury, flashy catcher and the life of the team. These outstanding figures united their efforts with the other members of the team—in vain, however, Lady Luck smiling upon the opponents on most occasions. Nevertheless, next year's team looks very promising, as, besides retaining many of these dandy players, several more experienced ones are returning.

In the first game of the season we lost to Hopewell in spite of Thurston's homer which brought in another runner.

The game with Petersburg was one of the most spectacular of the year as well as one of the closest. Moore and Ryan distinguished themselves as pitchers while Via made two runs and four hits. Gill's and Taylor's batting were also outstanding features of the game. Petersburg had a cracking player, too—Meredith with three hits, a walk, and a sacrifice.

We succeeded in routing the Richmond Frosh with a 7-6 score. Moore with his pitching, and Beck and Gill with a home run each, were foremost in bringing the game to a successful finish. Williams of the opponents starred by his excellent playing as third baseman, getting two hits besides.

We, playing rather poorly, were badly beaten by Augusta Military Academy, who walked away with their pitching, hitting, and three double plays.

Moore pitched a beautiful game against Washington and Lee Freshmen while Taylor knocked a homer and Stansbury's excellent catching retarded the opponents. However, we were beaten by the narrow margin of 7-6, Jones and Mattox being particularly spectacular for the other side.

In the game with the V. M. I. Freshmen, Taylor figured with a homer and a two base hit, bringing in a runner on each. V. M. I.'s whole team batted well, especially Miller. Downey, an ex-Marshallite, played well for them also.

The Richmond Freshmen got back at us in our second game with them, scoring 14 to our 3. Their whole team batted well, their short stop getting four hits. Thurston figured for us.

The breaks went to Hopewell in our second game with them while Petersburg also scored her second victory of the season against us, in spite of the flashy playing of Moore and Beck.

We played Thomas Jefferson twice, one game going to each team with the narrow margin of one point on both occasions.

Captain Pitts and Manager Perkins assisted the coach well in arranging for the games and in successfully carrying out the schedule. Although we didn't have a very successful baseball season, our team struggled valiantly; and we are as proud of our good losers as we should be if we had had an unbroken winning streak. However, better luck next time!

THE 1932 SEASON for track was one of outstanding development. The Justices, captained by Platt Bullard, won two dual meets, and the City, Tidewater, and State championships.

Platt Bullard, who holds the record for the mile and who is co-holder of the half-mile record at Central High, set the South Atlantic high school record of 49.6 seconds for the 440-yard run against the William and Mary Freshmen.

John Dew was the outstanding broad jumper, jumping 21 feet 6 inches, while Alec Shaffer raised the high school pole vault record to 10 feet 6 inches.

Our squad showed up well in the running events, but was rather weak in the field events. In the meet with William and Mary Freshmen, John Marshall took second place with 44 points. The Justices redeemed themselves by taking the first three places in every event in the City Meet, when they defeated McGuire's, St. Christopher and Thomas Jefferson athletes by the score of 87 to McGuire's 28.

In the Tidewater meet in competition with Maury, Hampton, Newport News, and Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall won first place with a score of 52⅓ points. Howe and Showalter took first and second in the mile run.

by the score of 61 to 56, with Bullard, Dew, Shaffer, and Holland leading the attack. Preceding this meet the captain-elect for 1933, Eddie Turner, was forced on account of illness to withdraw from competition.

At Charlottesville in competition with the Class A high schools of the State, John Marshall took first place. William McMullin set a new State record of 17 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles.

At Central High, John Marshall won second place in competition with the larger prep schools of Virginia, Charlotte, N. C., Washington, and Maryland. The relay team of Davis, McMullin, Ridout and Odell, as well as the medley relay team of Turner, Hawley, Holland, and Bullard, captured both trophies.

Besides this enviable record, the Justice team won the William and Mary Tidewater Trophy, the Class A State Plaque, the "C" Club Trophy for the mile relay, and the Washington Bi-Centennial Medley Relay Trophy. A medley relay differs from an ordinary relay in that the first two men run 220 yards each, the third runs 440 yards, and the fourth 880 yards. For winning second place in the C event, the John Marshall team was awarded the George Hamilton Memorial Trophy.

THE John Marshall Hockey Team, sponsored by the Girl Reserves, completed the 1932 hockey season, making a record not quite up to par, yet having thoroughly enjoyed the games and practices. Miss Bessie Burns, a recent graduate of Westhampton College, and a member of the Varsity while there, served the team well as a coach, and was responsible for their improvement and their success.

Mary Moore McLaughlin was elected manager and Ellen Holman, captain of the team. Their regular line-up was: Center forward, McLaughlin; inners, L. Taylor and Coit; Wings, Royer and Baker; half backs, Deyerle, Holman and Nenzel; full backs, Leonard and Carr; goal, Thompson. The regular substitutes were: Cooper, M. Taylor, Ligon, Maynard, Schaaf, and Moore.

The schedule this season included two games with Collegiate, one with St. Catherine, and one with the Westhampton Freshmen.

The first game with Collegiate found the John Marshall girls in better shape than the opponents. McLaughlin was able to get almost every bully, and the team coöperated in getting the ball up the field for four goals. The backs played well in assisting the forwards whenever the ball was taken by the Collegiate girls.

When John Marshall met St. Catherine, the weather had become too cold for hockey, and it was almost impossible to hold the stick firmly enough to hit the ball. However, this condition was equally bad for both sides, and our team was glad when the game was over, even though it was a victory for St. Catherine.

In the second game with Collegiate, the John Marshall girls outplayed the opponents, keeping the ball near Collegiate's goal most of the time, but they lacked shooting initiative. This accounts for a 2 to 1 defeat. The team by this time had improved greatly and were playing very pretty hockey.

The last game of the season with the Westhampton Freshmen was a beautifully played one. The John Marshall girls were very successful in taking the ball down the field, but did not have the necessary punch with which to score. They, however, held Westhampton to 3 goals.

Hockey is fast becoming a favorite sport at all colleges. It affords splendid exercise for the body as well as an opportunity for a great deal of head work and team work. It has an advantage over basketball in that it is an outdoor game, and is played over a larger area, thus avoiding too much personal contact. Also more players are able to receive benefit, since the team requires eleven players and necessary substitutes. John Marshall is unfortunate in not having a playing field near the school. The team has to go to the Byrd Park field for daily practice, and for this reason fewer of our girls are able to participate. Because hockey is an important sport at colleges, however, John Marshall is greatly interested in building up her hockey team and in giving her girls the advantage of practicing, studying and playing hockey so as to have the benefit of a high school hockey education on which to better build the college one. The Girl Reserve Club sponsors the John Marshall hockey team, and makes a good job of it.

Since the ultimate ideal in athletics should not be that one wins, but how one plays the game, the Girl Reserve team feels that the season of '32 was a success. They have many pleasant memories of the good times which were had.

UNDER the direction of Mrs. Frank Wood, the basketball squad was organized early in October. Evalyn Stribling was selected to be the new athletic manager, and, with the able assistance of Lucy Cooke, she has accomplished a great deal.

We recruited new members and began practice towards the end of the month. Until January, the coach concentrated on the beginners, getting all the girls ready for the intramural games. Just before the Christmas holidays, the group was divided into two squads. Mary Moore McLaughlin was elected captain and Ellen Holman, manager of the first or John Marshall squad. Martha Arie was elected captain and Carrie Lee Chapman, manager of the second or High School squad. Both squads played teams from outside schools, the John Marshall squad meeting the first teams of other schools, and the High School squad contending with their second teams.

In this way all the girls were given an opportunity not only to practice on special teams but also to meet opposing teams in match games. Therefore basketball was made more interesting and entertaining to the whole group of contestants and none was left out of play. Since the modern idea for girl's athletics tends more to intramural contests than to interscholastic ones, our squads often had games between themselves, enjoying this rivalry just as much as that of playing outside teams.

Match games began in January. Out of seven games, John Marshall won six and tied one. With this record, John Marshall won city championship for girls' basketball for 1933.

Our first and second games were with Pan-American and Cathedral Schools, both of which were defeated by large margins. Varina, our only opponent outside the city, tied with John Marshall, the score being 9 all.

The St. Catherine's game was by far the prettiest of the season. The guards did some fast breaking up of passes. The centers hooked the ball in and passed it quickly to the forwards, who dropped it in the basket. The teams were so evenly matched that it was a matter of seconds that determined. This is the first time for many years that John Marshall has defeated St. Catherine's team.

Richmond Normal and Collegiate were defeated by large scores.

When our girls played Thomas Jefferson, there were so many spectators that there was hardly enough room to play. It was the most important game of the year, and determined the city championship. John Marshall was 'way ahead in the half, but the Jeffs staged a comeback that was so fast that the John Marshall team was almost swept off its feet. However, as our girls realized the necessity of playing their very best, they managed somehow to come out on top amid the cheering of the crowd.

Our eighth game was of a very hilarious nature, played with the sports of the faculty amid burst of cheers, laughter, and advice from the side lines. The faculty, veteran players, gave us good practice, and plenty of fun. Both on the defense and the offense they showed vim and vigor, and the game was great.

The season ended fittingly with the monogram service. Our coach, captain, and manager talked briefly on the great honor of winning a monogram, as it represents a very high standard of sportsmanship as well as playing ability. Those receiving monograms were: Evalyn Stribling, Mary Moore McLaughlin, Ellen Holman, Edith Deyerle, Louise Royer, Elna Lowenthal, Louise Taylor, and Edith Smith.

UNDER the able leadership of our sponsor, Miss Helen Harwood, we organized and elected officers early in the year. We recruited four new members and had a tea for them. During the fall and winter, we did very little archery practice, having no indoor place for practice. However, we had a very successful subscription bridge party to raise some necessary funds.

Archery is one of the best of sports for the development of poise, grace, and muscle. After the first soreness from shooting had worn off, we enjoyed trying to hit the target, and some of us, developed hands and eyes steady enough to hit the bull's-eye.

The Cheer Leaders

THE CHEER LEADERS were organized early in the fall and practiced on the stage vigorously every morning before school. During the weeks of home games, cheer practices for the entire school were held on the front steps at both recesses. These girls have contributed a great deal of pep and enthusiasm to the student body, and have made our cheering loud and merry.

Their interest and work has helped our teams when losing as well as when winning. They have really taught us to yell

Senior Picnic

ON FRIDAY, December 9, the Senior Picnic was held, and a better day couldn't have been picked. It was cold and clear, a snappy day. Almost all of the football team, and many of the cheer leaders, were there. The result was a football game. But this was co-ed, and the girls were in on every play. Their kicks were excellent, Marie Duling sometimes getting ten yards.

All the tackling, punting, and fumbling, however, served to sharpen the senior appetites, and when the "eats" were served, 155 finger rolls and wieners, half a bushel of apples, marshmallows, pickles, candy, and coffee went down what Miss Phillips calls the "aesophagus."

The seniors ended the picnic with the dying embers of the fire but not until the expected accident had happened. Elise Turner slipped, fell, and almost had to swim until Frank Richards came to her rescue.

Thanksgiving Celebration

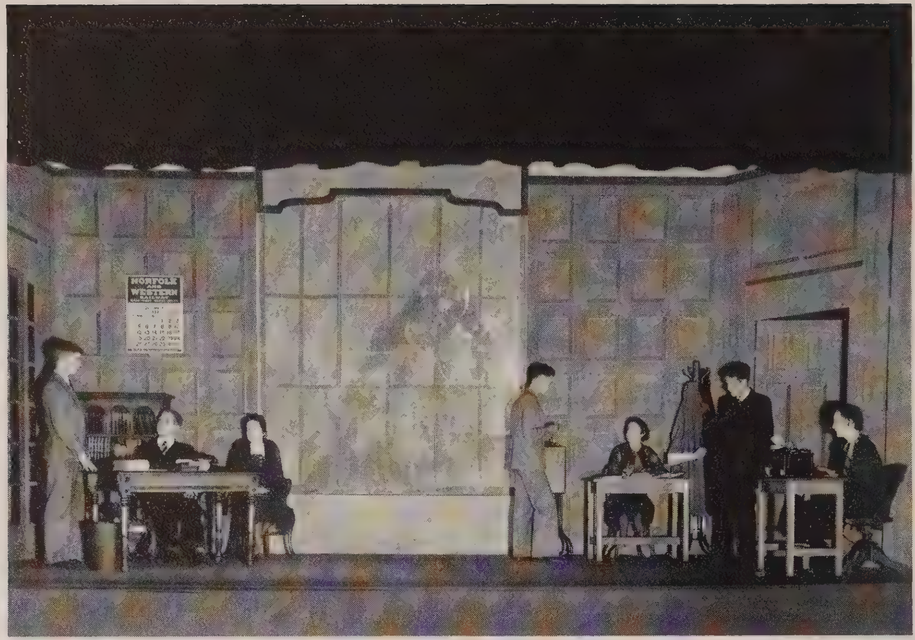
ON NOVEMBER 23, the last day of school before Thanksgiving Day, the student body of John Marshall held its annual ceremony.

This ceremony consisted of the finest action of human hearts, that of giving. Each home room and social club prepared a basket or box of foodstuffs, garnished it with greens, and covered it with tissue paper, until the whole ceremony seemed to be a contest as to which room would give the best and most beautiful contribution. As a result, the stage was piled high with beautiful baskets.

And, to keep the program from being stiff and dull, many home rooms produced fowls alive, or put on stunts. A misshapen horse, driven by a boy in farmer's attire, pulled out a large offering, while the electric shop boys produced a live duck and some canned goods from a telephone.

These gifts were to be sent to the City Home, Crippled Children's Hospital, and other worthy Richmond institutions, where they were of great assistance.

When the last basket had been deposited on the crowded stage, the students sang the school song to the accompaniment of the Cadet Corps Band and left for the holidays elated by their freedom and enriched by the act of sharing what they had with those who had less.



"Mr. Richey Changes His Mind"

"MR. RICHEY CHANGES HIS MIND" was the very delightful play presented by members of the Senior Class on December 23.

Frank Brown played well the leading role, that of Mr. Roderick Closefist Richey, a name well befitting the grouchy, miserly business man. John Wingfield as manager of the delivery department, Eddie Odell as floor walker, and John Apperson as office boy formed Mr. Richey's office force together with the two stenographers, Elise Turner and Elizabeth Harris.

Blanche Martin made a very winsome Red Cross nurse, soliciting subscriptions in Mr. Richey's office. Miss Martha Ellis completed the list of the more important characters in the role of the childhood sweetheart of Mr. Richey.

In this play, Mr. Richey was stern and even harsh in refusing to grant to his office force any holiday in which they might do their Christmas shopping and wrapping. When a Red Cross nurse solicited funds, she was rudely dismissed. Then, during the lunch hour, Mr. Richey went to sleep and dreamed of many of the Christmas scenes of his childhood. These scenes were shown magically through the large office window at the back. When the hard-hearted fellow awoke, he was completely changed, due to his dreams, and he was, instead of his old self, a light-hearted, generous fellow. After supplying his surprised office force with both time and cash for last-minute purchases, Mr. Richey was reflecting on the day's happenings when he received an unexpected Christmas present in the form of the sweetheart of his childhood.

Their early silly quarrel was easily patched up due to the prevalence of the Christmas Spirit.

The Debating Team

JUST as the various athletic teams represented John Marshall on the gridiron, baseball diamond, and basketball court, so did these four students represent the school on the platform. They formed the John Marshall High School debating team.

In order to select the Marshallites for the team, several preliminary debates were held. The boys, advised by Miss Hazel Gary, chose Carroll Williams and Buford Brandis as their best debaters. After several debates among themselves the Van Vort Debating Society, sponsored by Miss Mary Richeson, chose Louise Thompson, Myrtis Elliott, Mildred Vick, and Amelia Garber as the four best girl debaters. The question debated was the State debate question, "Resolved: That Congress Should Enact the Fess Radio Bill, Allocating at Least 15 Per Cent of All Broadcasting Facilities to Education, Exclusively."

In the two debates held to select the best four of these six students, Carroll Williams and Buford Brandis upholding the affirmative, defeated Mildred Vick and Louise Thompson in the first, and Myrtis Elliott and Amelia Garber in the second. Miss Branch, Mrs. Patterson, and Mr. Lux, acting as judges, selected Louise Thompson and Carroll Williams to support the affirmative, and Buford Brandis and Mildred Vick to support the negative in the debates with Petersburg High School.

The debates with Petersburg High School were held on April 12. Unhappily, both John Marshall teams were defeated, but in the opinion of all who heard them, John Marshall was never more ably represented in debate.
